EMLV Business School aims to pioneer innovative education and research, equipping students with a global perspective, ethical awareness, and diverse skills for sustainable and digital business. Its unique campus setup, alongside engineering (ESILV) and digital (IIM) schools, fosters interdisciplinary collaboration and peer learning opportunities.

In addition to teaching and modules offered in collaboration with ESILV and IIM schools (coding module, Fab Lab workshops, courses on climate transition...), students acquire complementary skills to those taught at EMLV and are fully prepared to enter the business world. This close working relationship forms the foundation of an original educational programme acclaimed by De Vinci Higher Education's partners, who recognise its value in preparing future open-minded business managers and leaders.

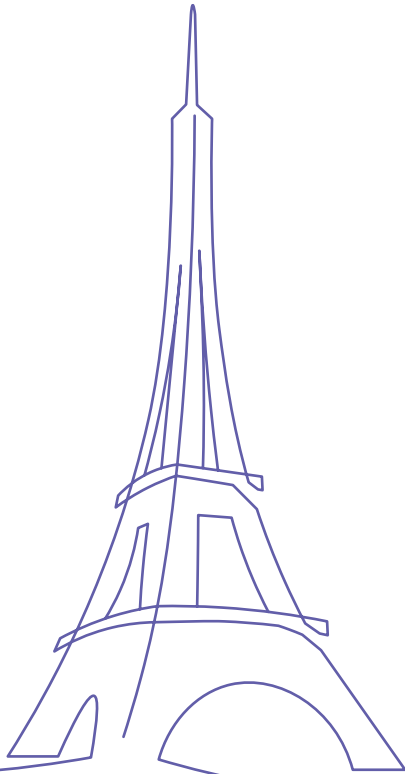

International experiences play an important role at De Vinci Higher Education. With more than 20% of international students on campus every year, our students are immersed in a truly international environment. And no university experience would be complete without our 58 student associations that round out life on campus, providing opportunities for students to commit in humanitarian, cultural, sporting or artistic projects and to develop skills and behaviours that are highly appreciated by recruiters.

Duc Khuong Nguyen
Dean of EMLV

De Vinci Higher Education offers students the opportunity to learn and grow through peer and collaborative learning.”

Paris

the first step to your international career

Thanks to the De Vinci Higher Education campus in Paris La Defense, you will be studying within walking distance to over 1,500 companies and employers. Paris, also known as a world-famous hub of culture, history and academia will uniquely place you to develop your creativity and inspiration.

The alliance of EMLV's know-how and the vibrant cultural life in Paris will promise you a transformational journey as a De Vinci Higher Education student.

With the support of the school's teaching faculty and careers service, you will develop your network and career opportunities in the heart of the largest European Union business hub.

An exceptional campus at the heart of Paris la Défense business district

Student common rooms

Paris, a cultural hub, offers an ideal setting to spark your creativity and inspiration.

International Student Welcome Desk

The International Welcome Desk will be your primary contact during your studies at De Vinci Higher Education, offering friendly support to all international students.

From your first day at the school, the International Welcome Desk can guide you through workshops and one-to-one sessions with questions relating to your life in France and on campus.

The Welcome Desk also works closely with student buddy groups that aim to help integrate international students on campus by organising different cultural and entertainment events all year long.

Life on campus

The vast selection of clubs and societies to choose from will help you mature, develop extracurricular skills, and build social ties that will come in useful throughout your career. Student clubs are overseen by the student life service who work to emphasise the value of this commitment. De Vinci Higher Education's clubs and societies will give you the opportunity to develop your skills through optional volunteering that is supported by the school and that can be promoted in job searches.

Our clubs and societies are "inter-school", which means that they welcome students from all three of De Vinci Higher Education's schools. For example, as an EMLV student, you will be able to work together with people who have more of an engineering (ESILV) or digital (IIM) profile as partners in community life.

Over 350 events are held on and outside campus every year, including theme days, competitions, parties, and visits; there's something for everyone!
